Subject: US Department of Education FERPA Training for Technology Professionals

NMSU is required by federal law to comply with The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), which was enacted to protect the confidentiality and privacy of student information. As part of its compliance obligation, NMSU is offering a 1.5 hours long face-to-face technical FERPA trainings to be presented by the U.S. Department of Education on February 25, 2015. There will be a morning and an afternoon session to accommodate varying schedules as well as a live webcast and a recorded webcast for those unable attend in person. This a companion class to the FERPA 101 and is geared towards IT professionals.

The session is called Technical presentation as it relates to FERPA and will provide guidance on risks, challenges and technical controls that align with best practices in an effort to ensure student data confidentiality and privacy. This session will be scenario based and have a question and answer component. This will allow technical staff to ask about specific situations. If you are planning to come to the FERPA 101 trainings it follows immediately after, but it is not required that you attend both.

Where: Wooten Hall, Room 105

When: February 25, 2015

Time: 10:00am – 11:30 am or 3:00pm – 4:30pm
